Cindy Varrecchia has joined Conway, Farrell, Curtin & Kelly, P.C. as a partner in the firm's New York City office. Cindy has been practicing law in New York for 30 years and has extensive experience in the defense of large exposure negligence, products liability, construction defect, environmental, lead paint, and NYS Labor Law cases in State and Federal Courts. She handles and manages cases from pre-suit investigations to trial. Her practice involves all aspects of litigation, from analyzing liability and damages in personal injury, toxic tort, construction defect and property damage cases to preparation of case strategy and evaluation reports, conducting depositions, researching and drafting dispositive pretrial-motions, and attending pretrial resolution proceedings. Cindy is experienced in the immediate inspection and supervision of cause and origin investigations in fire and construction defect matters including the identification and preservation of evidence and retention of appropriate experts. She actively serves as a mentor and guide for junior associates.

Prior to joining Conway Farrell, Cindy was a Senior Associate at Ahmuty Demers & McManus for over 20 years, where she earned and established long trusted relationships with claims professionals at various insurance carriers and client companies. Clients know Cindy for her legal acumen, practical methods, and for being a staunch ally and loyal advocate.

Cindy is known among her colleagues for her professionalism, hard work, and her straightforward approach in getting the job done.

Conway Farrell acknowledges Cindy's accomplishments and is very pleased to welcome her as a partner of the firm. We know that Cindy will promote the values of the firm and dedicate herself to the delivery of the highest quality of legal service to our clients.
