Barry N. Greenberg joined Conway Farrell as counsel in 2025. He has over 25 years of experience defending individuals and businesses in property and casualty claims, construction (Labor Law) accidents, premises liability, and property damage in courts throughout New York State. Barry has handled claims from the inception of the case through to trial including preparation of case strategy and evaluation reports, conducting depositions, researching and drafting dispositive pretrial-motions, and attending pretrial resolution proceedings.

Prior to joining Conway Farrell, Barry worked at a well-regarded New York defense firm and at Staff Counsel for AIG. His extensive experience has established long trusted relationships with claims professionals at various insurance carriers and client companies.
