David Greenberg is an Associate in Conway Farrell's Litigation group. His practice focuses on handling matters arising out of construction-related accidents, trip and fall cases, and other premises liability. Prior to joining Conway Farrell, David spent years as a personal injury litigator, appearing in Court on behalf of plaintiffs throughout the five boroughs and Long Island. Since graduating from Hofstra University School of Law in 2011, David has also garnered experience in the areas of immigration law, family law, and criminal law.
